

Daniel Balich is a partner in the Long Beach office and represents clients in a wide range of matters, including wrongful death, catastrophic personal injury, public entity defense, construction defect, and real property cases. He joined the firm in 2011 and has managed the Southern California Office since its opening in 2019. Mr. Balich guides clients through all aspects of the litigation process. He has tried several cases to verdict and argued in the California Court of Appeal.

Mr. Balich received his Juris Doctorate from Golden Gate University, School of Law. He obtained his Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy of Law and Morality from Tulane University in New Orleans. He is a board member of the Barrister's Club of the Long Beach Bar Association and a member of Northern California Fraud Investigators Association (NCFIA).